Conditions for Publication in Pediatrics

American Academy of Pediatrics 141 Northwest Point Blvd. Elk Grove Village, IL 60007

Authors: _____

Title: _____

Each author must complete this form as part of the submission process. Each author (“I”) agrees to the conditions listed below:

Scientific Responsibility Statements: I certify that I have participated sufficiently in the work to take responsibility for a meaningful share of the content of the article. This participation included:

- (a) conception and/or design of the research/experiment(s); collection, analysis, and interpretation of data; and/or
- (b) drafting the article and/or revising its intellectual content; and
- (c) approval of the article as submitted and approval of the final version of the article to be published; and
- (d) approval of the abstract of the article and attestation that the abstract accurately reflects the substance of the article.

Exclusive Publication Statement: I certify that none of the material in this article has been published previously, and that none of this material is currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. This includes symposia, books, articles published by invitation, and preliminary publications of any kind except in abstract form.

Conflict of Interest: I affirm that I have no financial affiliation (e.g., employment, direct/indirect payments, stock holdings, retainers, consultantships, patent-licensing arrangements, or honoraria) or involvement within the last 3 years with any commercial organization with direct financial interest in the subject or materials discussed in this article, except as previously disclosed on the title page, which lists all financial disclosures and conflicts of interest. Any other actual or potential conflict of interest under the AAP’s conflict of interest and disclosure policy is also disclosed either in the article or in writing to the AAP. Any disclosed conflict of interest may be published with the article, and if none is declared, a statement to that effect will be published with the article. Any updates should be sent to PediatricsEditorial@aap.org

Copyright Transfer Agreement: In consideration for publication of the Work by the AAP, and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, effective upon acceptance for publication, each author and, if applicable, the author’s employer hereby assigns and transfers to The American Academy of Pediatrics (“AAP”) all of his, her or its right, title and interest in the above article and in all copyrights and other intellectual property rights therein (including the right to obtain copyright registration, whether separately or as part of a journal issue or otherwise) throughout the world and for the full term and all extensions and renewals thereof. This transfer includes the right to edit and prepare derivative works based upon the article, adapt the article for use in conjunction with computer systems and programs, including reproductions or publication in machine-readable form and incorporation in retrieval systems, and to exploit all commercial and merchandising rights in the article in all cases in English and in other languages, in all print, electronic and other media of expression now known or later developed. In the event that the article is not accepted for publication by the AAP, the author(s) shall retain all rights in the article and related copyrights, and the provisions in this section regarding assignment of such rights to the AAP shall be of no effect. I authorize the AAP to publish my name, photograph, and biographical data in connection with any use of the article that the AAP may make and in advertising and promotional materials relating to the article. The transfer of copyright hereunder does not constitute transfer of patent or trademark rights or rights to any process or procedure described in the Work.

Rights of Authors: Effective upon acceptance for publication, the AAP hereby licenses the following rights back to the author(s):

- (a) The right to photocopy or make single electronic copies of the article for their own personal use, including for their own classroom use, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided the copies are not offered for sale and are not distributed in a systematic way outside of their employing institution (e.g. via an e-mail list or public file server). Posting of the article on a secure network (not accessible to the public) within the author’s institution is permitted.
- (b) The right, subsequent to publication, to use the article or any part thereof free of charge in a printed compilation of works of their own, such as collected writings, theses or lecture notes.

Note: All copies, paper or electronic, or other use of the information must include an indication of the AAP’s copyright and a full citation of the journal source. Please refer requests for all uses not included above, including the authorization of third parties to reproduce or otherwise use all or part of the article (including figures and tables), to the Copyright Clearance Center’s Rightslink®. Locate the desired content on <http://pediatrics.aapublications.org/>. Click “Request Permissions” to the right of the abstract.

Authorship: If copyright is held by the employer of an author, the employer or an authorized representative of the employer must sign in addition to the author(s). If the author is a US Government employee, whose work falls within the public domain, and this work was created in that capacity, the copyright transfer applies only to the extent allowed by US law and the author should sign this form. Please confirm by checking the box following the signature line. Any other author who is not a US Government employee must also sign the copyright transfer form.
